Formed in early 2014, by singer/songwriter/producer Tom Cella and songwriter/producer David Burdick, the Salt Lake City, Utah based duo has developed a strong following due to the band's sonic blend of synthpop, trance and futurepop. With a focus on writing hook driven, melodic dance music, Rare Factice has received acclaim from critics and audiences. The band's first single, "Nothing Matters" was released in July, 2014 and has received airplay in countries all over the world.

The duo followed up with a single titled "This Broken Resolution" in September of 2014, and released their first full length album titled 'Light in the Dark' on June 30th, 2015.

Newly formed, the duo quickly made a splash in electronic music circles with the release of Nothing Matters. Light in the Dark is the culmination of a year's worth of work in the studio by Rare Factice. Not content to simply release an EP, the band strongly believed synthpop and electropop music in the United States were in need of a fresh perspective. With a strong background in EDM and Trance music, David and Tom set forth on a quest to fuse the pulsating rhythmic basslines that Trance music is known for, with the melodic and emotional nature of synthpop. A full ten tracks of originally composed material is the result, with tones varying from euphoria to broken hearted sorrow.

Rare Factice have been heavily influenced by bands from yesterday and today. Fans have described the music as dreamy and euphoric. Those who like the works of ERASURE, M83, and ABOVE & BEYOND shouldn't pass this album by.
